PATRICK DONAHOE

Other Members of the Family as Warmly Advise Use of Paine's Celery Compound.

Few men in this country who have lived to clear the eight-barred gate, which not many come in sight of, and fewer go over, have enjoyed more of the blessings of a long, active, well-spent life than Patrick A. Donahoe, the founder of the Boston Pilot.

In every city, village and hamlet throughout the several states and territories of the Union, where the Irish-American people have settled, the name of Patrick Donahoe is spoken with respect, admiration and affection.

More than half a century ago Mr. Donahoe established the Pilot. In 1870 he engaged John Boyle O'Reilly, who was its brilliant editor for twenty years.

To every good cause and to every charity he was a generous subscriber. He was a Catholic church in New England that has not been a recipient of his bounty.

Mr. Donahoe is now eighty-six. The following open letter, sent to Wells, Richardson & Co., is in fact addressed to the thousands of friends all over the land, in whose hearts and homes Patrick Donahoe has found so many.

I recently suffered from prostration brought on by a protracted illness of a very trying character, and at the suggestion of friends who were believers in your remedy (Paine's Celery Compound) I was induced to give it a trial. I am happy to say that the result was most satisfactory, and I felt its good effect immediately. Hence I am able to recommend its use in cases like mine, where the nervous system, from any cause, is run down and needs a reliable tonic.

"I am happy to state that two members of my family have used Paine's celery compound with the most gratifying results. My daughter-in-law, Mrs. P. M. Donahoe, has received the most pronounced results from its use, whilst my son, J. Frank Donahoe, the organist of the Cathedral, is loud in its praise, having found it a great help in regaining his strength from overwork in his profession."

Yes, I believe in Paine's celery compound. Patrick Donahoe.

Three-fourths of all the aches, pains and disabilities that aged persons suffer from arise plainly from retarded circulation. The slow blood stream gets choked with an accumulation of waste matter that declares its presence in twinges of rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia and inability to sleep. All these untoward conditions can be corrected and permanently done away with by vigorously cleansing the blood and regulating the tardy circulation. Paine's celery compound is pre-eminently capable of doing this beyond any other remedy.

There is nothing vague about the sort of "good health" that is promised by Paine's celery compound and vouches for by men and women who have used it. It means, among other things, braver nerves, complete digestion, sweeter breath and more regular bodily functions. Paine's celery compound secures these where other remedies fail, because Paine's celery compound is the discovery of a great physician, who knew all that the school and text books could teach him, but more than that, he knew sick men and women, as few physicians in any age have known them. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of the Dartmouth medical school, was able to drive out disease from the system, because he knew where the disease was lodged and how to help the excretory organs, instead of confusing them as so many "logical" remedies do in their effort to cleanse the blood. Paine's celery compound encourages and strengthens the kidneys, and enables them to cleanse the blood of its waste, poisonous matters that are the direct cause of drowsiness, listlessness, melancholia, blood diseases, and sicknesses, headaches and that general "run down" condition that opens the door to delicate organic diseases of the heart, kidneys or stomach, especially when a person is advanced in years and no longer possessed of the abundant energy that characterizes youth alone.

Paine's celery compound makes the blood a bright red color, increases its volume in the arteries and quickens its circulation, and enables a nervous person to sleep eight or nine hours at a stretch. Every man or woman whose nervous strength is at all overtaxed, or whose life is a busy one in many directions, will find the invigorating, vitalizing effect of Paine's celery compound, and see his or her health mend from the first use of this greatest of all known invigorators and remedies.

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

Mr. S. P. Ragsdale, of North Tenth street, has an interesting curiosity in the shape of a chicken with four legs and four wings. The chick was hatched day before yesterday, but did not live and was placed in alcohol. All the legs and wings are perfectly formed.

One of the longest records in Southwestern Kentucky is one just completed by a clerk J. M. Smith at Edinville. It is an Illinois Central deed to property, and contains about 70,000 words, being spread over 210 pages of the deed book.

Squire T. J. Anston, at Metropolis, has a Confederate pocket book containing a series of "wildcat" currency. One of the bills is issued by the City of Natchez, and another of Franklin county, Tenn., while the third is by the Mississippi and Tennessee River railroad. On the Tennessee side at Sandy Creek, La., a whole camp was captured. In these relics are a match box containing a wax candle stick and a silver fork which closed like a knife. He also has in his possession a "pedigree" of Abraham Lincoln by one of John Morgan's men for the Atlanta Intelligencer. The writer claims to have been a neighbor who personally knew what he wrote. Veteran Anston also has a pocket diary full of interesting notes.

The expression "having a stung up" to somebody is literally carried out by the little son of a well known deputy county official. The boy is just old enough to begin sleeping by himself, but his parents could not induce him to occupy another bed through any means, until one night the mother hit on the plan of tying a string to her arm and giving the youngster the other end. He would pull the string, and realize that his mother was on the other end, and then go to sleep perfectly satisfied, and not afraid of being gubbed up by some monster during the night. The first night he awoke in fear and trembling, for when he pulled the string it gave way and all came straight to him. He set up a howl that would have made a Comanche Indian green with envy. After the neighborhood had rushed into silence, the fond mother took pains to tie the knot tighter next time.

The scheme now works like a charm, and is recommended for all timid children, accompanied by the caution to always have the knot securely tied, however.

Next Thursday at Jones' hall, on the South Side, there will be a concert by Dean's band, and a cinematograph entertainment under the direction of Prof. Murray Gilbert. This will be the first public concert given by Dean's band in quite a while, and a large crowd from the city, as well as the extreme South Side, will no doubt attend.

In addition to the plan on foot to build a new opera house here, there is another to convert the far end of Tennessee island, on the side of the city, into a park, and use it in summer for concerts and theater performances. It is understood several men are interested in the project, and will definitely determine what they will do in the course of a week or two.

Should the park be established, nightly trips would be made by the ferry boat to carry up the passengers. Light water would never interfere with the park, as it would be used only in the summer and fall, the seasons of low water.

We want you for a customer.

This is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional remedy. Dr. F. J. Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the system. DOGS IN HARNESS.
Bow-Wow Says: "Quite the Thing in Belgium."

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in European cities believes that dogs should not be used to drag carts. But in Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and the Netherlands dogs are used more and more every year as beasts of burden, and for some uses they are well adapted to the needs of farmers and small tradesmen. In Belgium they are used to deliver milk, and also by the grocer, the baker and the butcher; in the surrounding districts they are used by the farmer to bring his produce to market. The police regulations are very much better than formerly, and now it is not possible to overload the carts dragged by dogs, or almost impossible to do it, because of the police regulations. When one dog is used to a cart the cart is pushed from behind by a man. When dogs alone are used from two to six are harnessed to a two or four-wheeled cart. The muzzle which around the dog is compelled to wear at all times is used as a bridle. The rest of the harness is a bridle collar, which has traces of cord or of leather, a back band and a girth. The two-wheeled cart is about four feet high, and weighs over 200 pounds; it has handles which enable the driver to balance it. The dogs are hitched to an iron bracket beneath the cart. This is the kind of cart used when one dog is used. The four-wheeled cart, which is usually drawn by four dogs harnessed abreast, weighs less than that used by one dog, because one dog is always helped by a man or woman. It costs little to feed the dogs and that is one reason why they are so popular with small dealers. The harness is often made at home. The country, especially Holland and Belgium, is practically adapted to dogs as draught animals, because it is level. In Switzerland dogs are used in only a few of the villages, and for very few purposes. In Belgium the dogs will travel a distance of 20 miles in three hours. This is very much faster than the Belgian dogs can accomplish, for they travel but 35 miles in a day. That is their ut-
